A THOUGHT TO BEGIN WITH

Start with how you want to feel.

More light in the rooms you use every day. A place to settle in. An easier way into the garden. An entrance that feels like yours.

Use these four ideas to work out what matters before choosing a style. Shire has worked with homeowners across Shropshire and Mid Wales since 2003; a home survey is where ideas can be considered against your property.

01 / ROOM TO LIVE

A little more room for life.

A new space is most successful when it answers an everyday need: a table with room to gather, a quiet corner, a view that draws you outside. Begin with furniture and movement; let the shape follow.

OI

Let the room follow your life.

SHIRE COMPLETED INSTALLATION

MANUFACTURER DESIGN INSPIRATION

01

Begin with purpose

Picture the furniture and the paths through the room before choosing its shape.

02

Look up

A roof changes both the character of a room and the light reaching the house behind it.

03

Think beyond glass

Consider doors, shade, privacy and the view from the rooms already there.

02 / LET THE LIGHT IN

Light changes everything.

Some changes are quiet. A wider view. A frame that suits the house. Daylight in a favourite place to sit.

Windows and overhead glazing can give a room a different feeling without asking it to become a different room.

02

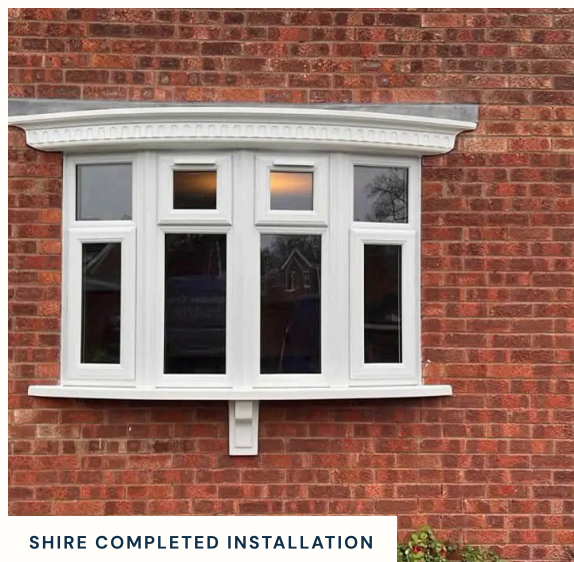

THE WINDOW EDIT

Frame the view. Keep the character.

What you see through a window matters as much as the window itself. Opening positions, frame lines and glazing bars all change the rhythm of a room and the look of the house.

CONSIDER

Look at the view from inside, the proportions from outside and how the window opens in daily use.

03 / OPEN TO OUTDOORS

Open the door to outside.

The best garden connection works on ordinary days as well as summer afternoons. Think about the view when the doors are closed, the way they open, and how you move between home and garden.

03

THE GARDEN CONNECTION

A threshold that works for you.

01

How it opens

Compare folding, sliding and hinged layouts in the space you actually have.

02

Where it leads

Make the route to a terrace, path or lawn feel natural from the room.

03

What you see

Notice the frame lines and the view on the many days the doors stay closed.

04 / A WARMER WELCOME

Make the first impression yours.

An entrance is a small part of a house with a big role. Its colour, glazing and details can feel welcoming from the street and right from the hallway.

THE ENTRANCE EDIT

Every detail adds up.

A door can be a quiet match to the house or a confident focal point. Look at colour alongside brickwork, glazing alongside privacy, and hardware alongside the way you enter every day.

LOOK AT THE WHOLE ELEVATION

Windows, door and roofline can share a thoughtful finish without being identical.

A THOUGHTFUL NEXT STEP

Bring us the idea.

We'll look at the home.

Shire has worked across Shropshire and Mid Wales since 2003. Tell our Shrewsbury team what you want to change. A free, no-obligation survey helps establish suitable options and the scope for a clear quotation.

01

Tell us what you have in mind

Share the room, the view or the everyday problem you want to improve.

02

Explore it at home

We look at the space, practical details and options worth considering.

03

A clear quotation

Review the proposed design, product choices and fitting scope before deciding.

— YOUR HOME. YOUR NEXT CHAPTER.

Let's make it yours.

Show us the room, window or entrance you want to improve, and tell us what matters day to day. Our Shrewsbury team will discuss the options and, where appropriate, arrange a free, no-obligation home survey.
